28-30 April 2009 | Earls Court, London, UK

Stand G20

Wick Hill is showing a raft of new products on its stand at Infosecurity Europe 2009. These include new solutions from WatchGuard, makers of unified threat management systems, Check Point, a leader in the enterprise firewall, personal firewall/endpoint, data security and VPN markets, and Barracuda, a worldwide leader in email and web security appliances. There are first show outings too for products from CRYPTOCARD, Allot, ArcSight, Marshal8e6, Finjan, Kaspersky Lab, Hummingbird and VASCO.

Wick Hill will also showcase revolutionary security convergence solutions from a major new telecoms partner!

Ian Kilpatrick, chairman of the Wick Hill Group, commented: "I expect the show to be very lively with a large number of new products being launched, reflecting the continuing changes in the security market. This has been fuelled by the increasing impact of crime in the IT security environment. Before, users were saying 'This will never happen to me.' Now they're saying 'This could happen to me, and I'd better do something about it.' Spending on security is strong, despite the recession."
